

Relief From Your Pain

"This, too, will pass, believe it, oh, my heart,
There will be sunlight on some distant hill,
Tears cannot last forever, joy will start,
And troubled waters someday will grow still,
Hurt is a transient - when it serves its need it
vanishes,

Relief must follow pain,
Oh and always when the flood goes tides recede,
No sorrow ever is endured in vain,
You will be stronger for the hurt you've borne,
And tears may fill one night of lonely grief,
But always with the coming of the morn,
There will be joy - oh heart hold this belief!"

This was sent to an Elba lady suffering from the flood by a friend. The author is unknown but this could help a lot of people suffering from the flood or other problems.

Selecting Replacment Gilts

Stan Windham - Associate County Agent

Coffee County ranks sixth in the state in total pork production numbers. This is a very significant ranking, considering the number of counties in Alabama. Our neighbors in Covington, Geneva, Houston, Dale, and Pike Counties also produce large numbers of pigs each year. Consumers have found pork, in most cases, to be a good buy and are starting to purchase more and more. As to the question of cholesterol, pork and beef have about the same with about 240 milligrams and chicken is not far behind with 220. So with this in mind and the fact that fat hogs are selling for over 60 cents for the first time in a long, long time, we can take a new look at an old question and that is the selection of good breeding females.

There are a lot of technical things you can do to select good breeding females. But one of the main things you can look at is muscle. To evaluate muscle in replacement gilts, I personally would rather look at the ham area. The ham should be long, wide and should express some muscle or have a lot of volume to it. When you look down the top of the hog, she should narrow in just a little over the loin and then widen out in the shoulder area. The shoulder is a very overlooked part of the hog. This is where the Boston butt and the picnic shoulder come from. If a gilt has a lot of muscle in the ham and down the top and in the front shoulder, she will pass this on to her offspring.

The second most important thing I feel you need to look at in replacement gilts is soundness or structure. When a gilt moves or walks out, she needs to be up on her toes and not broken down in the pasterns. Her gait should be free and easy. She should move as well on her front end as she does on her back end, have a little flex to her joints and not be real legged in either the front end or rear end. She should have at least six visible, functional appearing teats on each side of her underline. She should be fairly flat down on her toes. We no longer want the real high arched type pigs any more. Another thing I would look for in replacement gilts is condition in terms of fat to lean. Along with this I would just look at total size and volume. Possibly the better breeding gilts would generally be long-sided,

SALAD BAR DINING

Many restaurants now offer salad bars as a low-calorie, healthful addition to their regular menus. In addition to low-calorie, nutritious foods, however, many offer selections that may be high in fats, sodium, and calories. So next time you dine at a salad bar, use these tips.
In general, stick with raw vegetables, a good source of nutrients. Lettunes, such as kidney beans or chickpeas are also good choices of low calorie protein. Use lettuce, tomato, pepper and onion. Some salad bars offer broccoli or cauliflower which are high in nutrients and natural fiber. Fresh peas and beans are also sometimes available. Choose a vinegar or oil dressing, or reduced calorie dressing, often found in the condiment section, or sliced lemon, to avoid fatty dressings altogether.
Unfortunately, salad bars can also be fattening. It's easy to load up a plate and rack up on the calories. In addition, people may tend toward salad bars foods that are high in fat or sodium. Macaroni, pasta or potato salads should be avoided because of their high fat content. Bacon bits, processed cheeses, and croutons are high in sodium. It's easy to overdo high fat dressings, too.
A healthy salad bar should be well refrigerated and should carry a food shield (also called a sneeze guard). It should have no flies and look clean and fresh.
If food is in buckets surrounded by ice, scoop from the bottom. The temperature at the top may be warmer than is safe.
Marinated foods are generally considered to be safe, principally because of their high lemon and vinegar content.
Salad bars can be a fast, convenient, tasty alternative to the usual restaurant fare, but you should approach them with the preceding tips in mind. Select a variety of fresh

$41,584.59 TO BE DISTRIBUTED THRU GOVERNOR'S RELIEF FUND

Elba Flood Relief Fund goes to the people

The report from Police Chief Freddie Hanchey was not what the Elba citizens or the six representatives of the news media in attendance at the Elba City Council meeting Monday evening were there to hear about.

The much discussed Elba Flood Relief Fund of $41,584.59 was on the agenda and on the minds and lips of citizens and city officials alike.

The matter was settled with the council members voting unanimously to use the in-place screening committee and the Governor's Relief Fund to properly distribute the funds.

Mayor Fred Moore brought the item up for discussion with a recommendation the funds be turned over immediately to the Governor's Disaster Relief Fund for distribution to Elba flood victims.

Moore said his definition of a flood victim for these purposes was anyone who had gotten flood water into their home. He said that someone such as himself who only got water in his heating system under the eaves, but not in the house itself would not qualify. Moore further recommended the funds be divided equally.

He also suggested the applications on file with the in-place committee be used. This would speed up disbursement, according to the mayor. Moore said he was prepared to sign a check right then and have it hand carried to Montgomery by a representative of the Relief Fund who was in Elba at that time.

Moore and council members acknowledged that there were some individuals who failed for one reason or another to sign up for the first funds.

Council member Bill Brunson responded to questions from citizens in attendance concerning the definition of a flood victim. He explained that the differences of opinions on this was one of the reasons he had favored using the funds on a civic project.

He noted his home was filled with 11 feet of water and he was fortunately approved by the council allowed for reopening the application process to allow flooded business and qualified individuals who failed to apply for the Hank Jr. money to also apply.

Moore explained that as soon as new applications could be received from Montgomery, the additional sign-up would begin. He said he would get the information to the news media as soon as it was available. The additional sign-up time is expected to last about one week.

Applications can be picked up at the State of Alabama trailer located in front of the old school superintendent's office. This is the same location other applications were received and checks disbursed.

ASSUMES DUTIES JULY 23, 1990

Coffee County now has its first Emergency Management Agency director. He is Charles L. Webb of Enterprise, Alabama.

Mr. Webb was chosen from a field of forty-three applicants for the EMA director's job. The field was narrowed to twelve qualifiers by officials from the Alabama Emergency Management Agency and then to three after interviewing the dozen.

The county's EMA director selection committee composed of the mayors from Elba, Enterprise, Kinston and New Brockton then selected Webb from the field of three.

Webb comes to this position from Southeast Alabama Medical Center, where he has served as Division Director for Emergency Services since October of 1987.

During his tenure at the Medical Center, he actively worked with the Houston County Emergency Management Agency in the development and testing of contingency plans for that area.

Prior to joining the Medical Center staff, Webb served nearly thirty-one years in the Army, retiring in the grade of Colonel in August of 1987. His last military assignment was at Ft. Rucker, where he served concurrently as Chief of Staff of the Army Aeromedical Center and Administrator of Lyster Army Community Hospital.

Webb's military career included a variety of assignments (including duty as a helicopter ambulance pilot). He has served at many locations, including five overseas tours (two in combat), with emergency and contingency planning being an inherent part of his military assignments.

Colonel Webb's military awards and decorations include the Legion of Merit, Distinguished Flying Cross, two awards of the Meritorious Service Medal, seventeen awards of the Air Medal, the Master Army Aviator Badge, Combat Medical Badge, and numerous other awards.

He is a member of numerous civic and professional organizations, including: Member of Rotary International; Association of U.S. Army, Retired Officers' Association; Army Aviation Association; Wiregrass Chapter, Federally Employed Women; President of Board, Margaret Mary Hospice; and Member of Board of Directors, Coffee County United Way.

The new director will assume his duties on Monday, July 23, with his offices being in the Coffee County Farm Center Complex in New Brockton.

Webb was introduced to the commissioners in their regularly scheduled meeting on Monday.

He told the commissioners, "I chose to live in Coffee County and I would like to make a contribution to Coffee County. I hope that somewhere down the line people will say that Coffee County is a better place because Charlie Webb lived there."

SKINNER AND NORRIS DIE

Two killed in early morning collision

An early morning, two car collision on Highway 1895, took the life of two individuals. The time of the wreck was placed at approximately 5:05 a.m. Sunday morning, July 8, by investigating officers.

Mr. Dorothy A. Skinner, age 56, of Elba and Scotty Wayne Norris, age 19, of Elba, died as a result of injuries received in the wreck which occurred approximately 4 miles south of Elba, near the Basin Community on Alabama Highway 1895.

Mrs. Skinner was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Myrtis Layton Guy, age 68, of Elba. They were traveling south, reportedly enroute to pick butterbeans before it got to hot, when their vehicle was hit head-on by an automobile driven by Joseph Dwight Creel, age 25, of Elba.

Mrs. Layton was taken to the Elba General Hospital by a unit of the Elba Rescue Squad where she was treated and later transferred to Humana Hospital in Enterprise. She was later transferred to Flowers Hospital in Dothan and was reported to be in serious, but stable condition at press time Wednesday.

Norris was a passenger in the car driven by Creel. Also in the wreck vehicle was Ronnie Crawley, age 22, of Elba. Both, Creel and Crawley, were transported to Elba General Hospital by another unit of the Elba Rescue Squad. Crawley was treated for injuries to his foot and released. Creel was admitted to the hospital for treatment of injuries received in the collision. Both Creel and Crawley were reportedly thrown clear of the vehicle in which they were riding upon impact.

Both Mrs. Skinner and Norris were pronounced dead at the scene by Coffee County Coroner Bobby Baker. Their bodies were taken to the state crime lab in Dothan where autopsies will be performed to determine the exact cause of death.

The wreck is being investigated by the Alabama State Troopers, the Coffee County Sheriff's Department, the District Attorney's office and the Alabama Department of Forensic Science. There have been no criminal charges filed at this time.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

The picture we published last week of Jim Nichols' happy granddaughter and her fish was probably the most important thing in that issue of the paper. Not the fish, but the fact adults were taking time with children and exposing them to a clean, wholesome recreation outlet. We know where grandpa's "special fishin' hole" is located and have been known to fish there on more than one occasion. We will swap the satisfaction of a successful fishing trip any day for the greater satisfaction of knowing a youngster of any age has experienced the pleasure of landing a stringer of fish. As that proud grandpa noted while he gave a blow-by-blow account of the event, "There isn't time for you to fish when you have a small child fishing - you stay busy helping them and keeping them from falling in, but it is worth it all!"

The Elba City Council has taken action to distribute the $40,000 Elba Flood Relief funds to the Elba flood victims. We admire them for changing direction to serve the will of the people even though several members felt, and probably still feel, the money would have made a greater impact if kept together and put on one or two projects. While we openly disagreed, we respect their long range concerns for the Elba of tomorrow. However our thoughts were, and are, that first we need to fill the stomachs of our citizens and then develop the community.

Now that the $40,000 fund is decided, we need to concentrate planning on the many other needs of Elba. However first there are still flood victims who are in desperate need of help. Many people who are on very limited incomes and lost home furnishings and clothing to the flood simply can't bounce back without additional help. If you know a particular case that fits this description, one possible source of help for them is the Adopt a Family program. This might not produce a bunch of cash money, but as we can personally attest, there are times when a borrowed table and chair can be very helpful. These people and others who just need a friendly letter of encouragement can sign up with Mrs. Myrna Rhoades at the highway department trailer between city hall and SouthTrust Bank.

The news that Kleinert's is planning to again expand their huge plant in Elba is exciting. We remember when we heard the first news of a "rubber plant" coming to Elba... over 20 years ago. It would work as many as 150 people and this sounded great to us! Now that little of rubber plant has evolved into the largest employer in Elba and one of the largest in the Wiregrass area. They are bumping up closer and closer to 1,000 workers in the Elba plant and garments are stored in every corner, in trailers and in several rented buildings.

WE GET LETTERS

Dear Mr. Cox:

I am writing in response to the letter that you printed in the July 5th edition of The Clipper from Mary Jenkins. I would have preferred talking to Ms. Jenkins face to face to enlighten her about the rumor that she heard concerning the "quantity of cases of goods at the church on the Curtis Road." However, I have tried every available means to locate Ms. Jenkins, and it appears that no one, including the owner and publisher of The Elba Clipper, has ever heard of her. Therefore, as Supervisor of the Elba Senior Citizens Center, I feel compelled to take this method to offer an explanation about any materials that are located at the church in question, our temporary home. It is very hard to understand the necessity of having to explain the need of paper products for approximately 200 senior citizens per week.

As an individual flood victim myself, I was provided paper products and other items based upon the number in my family. I assume Ms. Jenkins was based upon the same thing, that is if she was a victim of the flood. If we had not been able to resume operation of the Center, our senior citizens would not have been able to benefit from state supported counseling of flood victims nor would they have an outlet to escape for just a few hours and the horrible effects of the flood.

If Ms. Jenkins can begrudge the senior citizens of Elba the opportunity of sharing these few hours with their friends, she is to be pitied. Also, if she knows a better plan, other than the ones used, for dispensing items, then perhaps she should go to City Hall and offer them the benefit of her expertise on this matter.

Carolyn V. Stokes, Supervisor
Elba Senior Citizens' Center

Dear Editor:

On June 21st our father, J.C. Lewis, Jr., suffered a heart attack and was taken to the emergency room at Elba General Hospital. We can never say enough positive things about the treatment our father received.

The ER doctor, Robert D. Shedden, M.D., worked diligently with Daddy until the trauma unit from Dothan could transfer him.

Nancy Lindsey Smith, R.N., was very professional and extremely caring in her treatment of our Daddy. We do not know the names of the others who treated Daddy, but we are so very thankful for them also.

We were told by the doctors in Dothan that Daddy's life was saved by the folks at Elba General Hospital and for that we will be forever be grateful.

Thank you,
Mike, Stan
Kay & Jama

Dear Editor:

I think it is terrible what the mayor and city council are wanting to do with the money that was sent in here for flood victims. I lost all in here the flood, then lost my husband April 20, 1990 and broke my ankle May 12, 1990. So you can see a funeral and losing all you had is expensive.

Sincerely,
Virginia Barnes

Dear Ferrin,

I was glad to see you disagree with the city council about the $40,000 flood relief fund. So do I.

The money was sent for victims of the flood. People who lost everything and that's where it should go!

$60 per person or family isn't much but when you have lost everything and are trying to rebuild your home and life, $60 is a lot.

Thought you might be interested in the piece from the Mobile paper. It caused quite a stir down here.

Sincerely,
Ann Dewberry
Rt.1 Box 136
Mobile, AL 36605

(Editor's note: The Associated Press story received extensive coverage in several major dailies. The Mobile paper gave the story banner six column headlines)

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to say something to some great kids. In working with the 9-12 year old girls softball league, I saw some very athletic kids. Some were young, some were small, but I learned you can never underestimate these girls.

I would like to encourage each of you to continue to practice your throwing, batting and catching so you can be the best you can be.

To the girls who will be going into the 13-16 age group next year, I want to encourage you to hang in here and play hard. I know you will be the "young" players but give it your best and that will be enough.

Now I would like to say to the girls who will be on the All-Star team, play as a team and give it your best shot. Good luck!

Sincerely,
Willene Boutwell
Carol Laney

Dear Ferrin,

Just a note to tell you that Joe and I agree with each other and you - the money should go to the flood victims.

I have seen a few times when $60.00 was a lot of money to me. I could buy a set of sheets, pay some of the grocery bill, utilities, etc. Even if a flood victim wants to take his family out to dinner - great!

We and several out of a town and state of friends and family gave out contributions - anonymously - to people we knew were in the flood.

I believe in community projects and the "rehabilitation" of Elba - but not with money given for individuals.

Your friend,
Janice Clark

CELEBRATION!! Kleinert's employees and company officials celebrate their 20th anniversary in Elba, Alabama.

ADDING 80,000 SQ. FEET TO ELBA FACILITY

Kleinert's officials announce plans to expand at 20th anniversary celebration

Kleinert's celebrated their company's 20th anniversary with a celebration of technology. Each sewing station has a computer, which is a key to the main computer. This allows them to clock in and out from their work station. It also allows them and the supervisor to instantly measure their work efficiency and the worker to know at any time if they are working up to their desired rate of production.

Chairman of the Board Jack Briar was in Elba for the celebration and made the announcement to employees. Minutes before making the plant wide announcement, Briar told a group of invited city and county officials and other invited guest of the company plans.

The actual construction on the expansion is expected to begin in November, after the plant gets the current rush sewing season. The expansion will include additional warehouse space plus manufacturing capacity increase.

The annual payroll exceeds $10 million for the over 800 employees presently at the local plant.

A recent $500,000 investment in computer equipment places the machine operators on the cutting edge of technology. Each sewing station has a computer, which is a key to the main computer. ## Fund raising ideas offered in Elba's town meeting

Volunteers to serve on a committee to review suggestions by the Small Business Revitalization Committee were requested in a Monday evening town meeting.

The suggestions are on ways to generate record breaking sales receipts for Elba businesses, establish employment to pre-flood levels and to generate revenue for the city to offset the deficit created by lack of taxes being collected by town businesses.

John Giles, Director of Government or Hunt's Small Business Office of Advocacy, presided over the meeting. He introduced several members of the committee who related to those present "suggested ways" to help to accomplish the above task.

The suggestions centered around three main avenues by which receipts could be raised. They were music & entertainment, recreational activities, and reunion & events.

Janet Bradshaw, from the League of Municipalities, addressed the group on the behalf of the sub-committee on music and entertainment. She stated that the main idea in this category centered around a concert by a big name entertainer or group - possibly in the country music field.

Andy Brittain spoke to the group on the behalf of recreational activities. Brittain is with Auburn-Opekka Convention Bureau. He stated that the group with which he was working suggested the use of fishing, golf and tennis tournaments to raise revenue. These events would require a minimum investment with a maximum profit.

Ann Deal of the Alabama Development Office addressed the group on the state and federal government. She said her group suggested auctions (art and other items), tours of area homes, reunions, and hot air balloon rides.

Janice George, state Office of Volunteerism director, suggested a statewide telethon could possibly be organized with the proceeds going to Elba. This type of event, she stated, would place a lesser hardship on the people of Elba from an organizational standpoint.

Ms. George also mentioned the possibility of a weekend event on the anniversary of the flood in March 1991. This would give the people of Elba more time to "re-group" and get the businesses better prepared for a large crowd. Possibly well-known entertainment could be brought in at that time.

No decision was made at the meeting Monday evening, but a local committee will be formed to discuss the ideas presented at this meeting. Jack E. Brunson of Elba will be chairing the local committee and a report will be forthcoming in the very near future.

PASTOR'S CORNER

By Rev. Danny Maddox
Whitewater Baptist Church

In Philippians 3:13-14 we find the Apostle Paul giving us three pieces of valuable advice that could make for us a better, more enjoyable life. What did he offer?

First, he said that we should forget that which lies in the past. I do not believe that he meant to just forget we have a past, but that we do not allow the past to control us. It is easy to get caught up in yesterday's experiences and forget what we should be doing today.

Secondly, Paul says that we should be reaching for that which lies ahead. There is a life to live, things that need to be done. We should be busy doing those things that would help us and others to be getting the very best out of life. Is there something you can do to make today better?

A third thing is that we should be looking toward the goal that Almighty God has for our lives. It will be difficult to work toward God's goal for your life if you don't have a relationship with Him. Do you know God today? Do you know what His plans for you are and how to reach them? If not, the Lord tells us to look unto Him for wisdom and understanding, that He will direct our path and that He will light our pathway.

Let me assure you that God wants to touch your life and make it better. Jesus said that He came, "that we might have life, and that we might have it more abundantly." (John 10:10) He said that, "My grace is sufficient for you, for in our weakness His strength is made perfect." (2 Corinthians 12:9)

God's goal for your life is this: to live and enjoy life to the fullest in a way that would be pleasing to Him and your fellowmen. Furthermore, He says that His grace is able to accomplish this in your life. Make today the greatest day of your life by totally giving your life to the Lord. Should you have questions or need help in knowing the Lord, then contact me or any other minister in the area. God Loves You!

Community Backyard Bible Clubs Planned For July 23-27

The First Baptist Church will be sponsoring three Backyard Bible Clubs around our community during the week of July 23-27. All children 4 years old through sixth grade are invited to take part each morning from 9:00 to 10:30 a.m.

Many of our churches who normally have Vacation Bible School have been unable to do so this year due to the March flood. This program is an effort to involve the children of our community in some similar activities to those offered by Vacation Bible School. The 90 minute sessions each morning will include games, singing, a Bible story, a present - day story on how we might apply the truths of God to our lives, and a period of refreshment and recreation.

Three sites around our community have been chosen. They are: (1) Brookdale - the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Moore, (901 Brookdale Avenue) (2) Highland Drive - the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Calhoun, (1555 Highland Drive) (3) Smith Ave. - Hawkins / Williams City Park (Under the pavilion). You are encouraged to attend the location nearest you.

All locations have shelters, therefore, Backyard Bible Club will meet even in the event of rain.

"We felt a responsibility to minister to the children of our community, their schedules have been greatly disrupted during recent months. It is our prayer that this project will offer them something enjoyable and teach them about the love of God through difficult times," says Mart Gray, minister of music and youth at First Baptist. "We want everyone to be involved!"

Stone Mountain Youth Choir To Sing In Elba

The Youth Choir of the First Baptist Church, Stone Mountain, Georgia, will be in concert on Monday night, July 16, at 7 p.m. at the Elba First Assembly of God. Due to restoration work at their facilities, the First Assembly of God has graciously agreed to offer their sanctuary for the concert.

The 20-voice choir is on tour that includes stops in Georgia, Alabama and Florida. They will present a variety of musical selections that reach all ages. The choir is under the direction of Ray Blanton, minister of music at First Baptist, Stone Mountain.

The members of First Baptist Church extend an invitation to the entire community to attend the concert.

SINGING IN ELBA SUNDAY was this group from the First United Methodist Church of Wetumpka who were in the area helping Elba flood victims recover from the flood of March 17th. They sang Sunday morning in the Elba United Methodist Church.

The group was staying in New Brockton at the farm center and working in Elba during the day. Money for their clean-up and repair materials were paid for with funds the youths raised from various projects in Wetumpka. The volunteers consisted of John Engstrom, Kim Teel, Robbie Dennis, Mindy Chelley, Elba Gilli, and Gary McDowell, Tina McDowell, Kellie Chambliss, Chris Turner, Kelli Myers plus adults Wanda Turner, Jimmy Turner, Susan Green, Dodie Teel, Randy Teel and Marthe Myers. With the group but not pictured were Sam Mott, Sam and Mary Miller.

ROUND AND ABOUT WITH ERIA 897-2006

He that covereth his sins shall not prosper; but who so confesseth and forsaeth them shall have mercy.

Happy is the man that feareth always; but he that hardeneth his heart shall fall in his mischief.

As a roaring lion, and a ranging bear; so is a wicked ruler over the poor people.

The prince that wanteth understanding is also a great oppressor; but he that hateth covetousness shall prolong his days.

A man that doeth violence to the blood of any person shall flee to the pit, let no man stay him.

Who so walketh upright shall be saved; but that is perverse in his ways shall fall at once.

There will be changes made in the Lyster U.S. Army Hospital at Fort Rucker beginning June 21, 1990, due to budget constraints.

Because of these constraints, the hospital pharmacy has begun limiting the number and amount of prescription drugs available to outpatients.

That action has occurred to ensure the pharmacy's medication supply is not prematurely exhausted before the end of the fiscal year (Sept. 30).

Non-active duty patients (family members, retirees, etc.) with remaining refills will be provided a substitute drug through Lyster. If the patient prefers the originally prescribed medication, Lyster doctors will write a prescription for a retail pharmacy. This preference will be at the patient's expense.

The dispensing of the 90-day supplies of maintenance medication will be discontinued and that the pharmacy will now only issue a 30-day supply.

Cut-Backs At Lyster Hospital To Be Made

There will be changes made in the Lyster U.S. Army Hospital at Fort Rucker beginning June 21, 1990, due to budget constraints.

Because of these constraints, the hospital pharmacy has begun limiting the number and amount of prescription drugs available to outpatients.

That action has occurred to ensure the pharmacy's medication supply is not prematurely exhausted before the end of the fiscal year (Sept. 30).

Non-active duty patients (family members, retirees, etc.) with remaining refills will be provided a substitute drug through Lyster. If the patient prefers the originally prescribed medication, Lyster doctors will write a prescription for a retail pharmacy. This preference will be at the patient's expense.

The dispensing of the 90-day supplies of maintenance medication will be discontinued and that the pharmacy will now only issue a 30-day supply.

WEED CONTROL PROGRAM PRESENTED: Results of various weed control studies underway at the Wiregrass Substation were presented by researchers during the Weed Control Field Day held June 19 at the Substation in Headland. Presentations included the results of a study on the relationship between peanut seed size and herbicide injury being conducted at the Substation, an outlying research unit of the Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station at Auburn University. Findings from various herbicide trials on corn, peanuts, and cotton also were presented and a presentation was given on the Plant Disease Diagnostic Laboratory at Auburn. Visitors toured research plots at the Substation and a question and answer session was held. Program participants included Glen Welte, associate professor of agronomy and soils at Auburn who is conducting research at the Substation; Henry Ivey, Substation superintendent; Larry Wells, associate superintendent at the Substation; Brian Gambill, assistant superintendent at the Substation; Bill Curtis, district agent with the Alabama Cooperative Extension Service; Jackie Mullen, head of the Plant Disease Diagnostic Lab; and John Everest, Extension weed specialist.

CREDIT CARDS

A common type of credit is credit cards—those small pieces of plastic which can be like magic carpets or steel traps.

Use of a credit card means you accept the terms under which it was issued, even if no formal agreement has been signed. Be sure you understand the terms before you use the card.

Not all credit cards allow spreading payments over a period. Some are due upon receipt of statement. If the card states payment due at a specified time from the billing date, the "no interest" period begins the date the bill is written. If the payments are spread over a period, the amount may become due if you miss one payment.

The issuer of the credit card may change the agreement at any time. If you use the card after the specified date, you are agreeing to the new terms. The credit card holder is responsible for all charges made against the card until he notifies the issuer that his card has been lost or stolen.

There is generally a charge for credit card service. This may be reflected in initial fees, service charges or higher prices.

Credit is a vital part of our economic system, and the person or institution offering credit does so for profit and to encourage consumers to buy more.

SAFE FOOD PREPARATION

While many foods such as fruits and vegetables are best in their natural state, others are not safe unless they have been processed. Certain foods eaten raw, such as lettuce, need thorough washing.

Many raw foods, most notably poultry, meats and unpasteurized milk, are very often contaminated with disease-causing pathogens. Thorough cooking will kill the pathogens, but remember that the temperature of all parts of the food must reach at least 165 degrees Fahrenheit for beef and pork and 185 degrees for poultry.

When cooked foods cool to room temperature, microbes begin to multiply. To be on the safe side, eat cooked foods as soon as they come off the heat. If you must prepare foods in advance or want to keep leftovers, be sure to store them under either hot (above 140 degrees Fahrenheit) or cool (near or below 40 degrees Fahrenheit) conditions.

Reheat cooked foods thoroughly to protect against microbes that may have developed during storage. Avoid contact between raw foods and cooked foods. Since foods are so easily contaminated, any surface used for food preparation must be kept absolutely clean. Wash hands thoroughly before you start preparing food and after every interruption. Protect foods from insects, rodents and other animals. If you have any doubts about the water supply, boil water before adding to food or making ice for drinks.

WATER CONSERVATION
Using water-saving products provides many benefits including: conservation of a valuable resource, lower monthly water and sewer fees, lower hot water costs and a less expensive new septic leach field.

Two effective ways of lowering usage and energy bills are through the use of low-flow showerheads and low flush toilets. Aerators on sink faucets will also help reduce hot water bills.

Showerheads are normally designed to supply from 5 to 7 gallons of water per minute. Well designed fixtures will reduce only the quantity of water and not the force at which it is delivered. They can save up to half of the water used. Low-flow showerheads release water at the rate of 2 to 3 gallons per minute instead of the usual 5 and are easy to install.

The toilet is usually the single largest user of water in the home or office. The water bill for this usage may not seem high when compared to other utility expenses, but excess waste water drives up the cost of building and operating sewage treatment plants. The average household toilet using 3.5 gallons per flush, flushes 16,400 gallons of waste per year down the drain. With the older 5 gallon models, the average is 23,400 gallons per year. Low-flush toilets average 7,000 gallons.

We are not in a water shortage yet, but we should start being conservative minded in the use of our natural resources.

Peanut Contracts Due July 31

Contracts drawn up between peanut producers and handlers to sell 1990-crop additional peanuts for export or crushing must be filed by July 31. David W. Eaddy, CEO of the Coffee County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said. Additional peanuts are those grown in excess of the farm's poundage or on a farm that does not have a poundage quota, Eaddy explained.

He reminds peanut producers and handlers that they are responsible for contract agreements, and advises them to check the peanut contracts before signing to assure that the contract is correct in all respects.

As required for the 1989 crop, ASCS office by the July 31 deadline.

1990-crop peanut contracts submitted to ASCS for approval must contain certain specific information. Producers and handlers who are unfamiliar with required information may contact the Coffee County ASCS Office for assistance.

Eaddy said other items, in addition to the required information, may be included; however, these items may not negate any of the required provisions of the contract.

Peanut producers and handlers who have entered into contracts must submit the contracts to each respective contracting producer's local ASCS office by the July 31 deadline.

Free Tax Guide Helps Farmers

A free publication, designed to explain how tax laws apply to farming, is available from the Internal Revenue Service. IRS Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," contains information covering such topics as farm business expenses, tax credits, and soil and water conservation expenditures. The guide can be a valuable resource at tax time as well as a handy reference all year. It has a sample return with step-by-step instructions on filling out not only Schedule F, "Farm Income and Expenses," but also other forms and schedules dealing with tax situations common to farmers.

Important tax changes, a calendar of important dates, and important reminders alert readers to items of interest which affect the farmer as a taxpayer. Useful topics include discussions on employment tax responsibilities for agricultural employers, how to handle payments received under a government program, along with tips on methods of recordkeeping and accounting.

The "Farmer's Tax Guide" was prepared by the IRS, with assistance of the National Farm Income Tax Extension Committee and suggestions made by its readers. The publication can be ordered by calling 1-800-424-3676.
